

OFCY 2017 Summer Program Grant Renewals

Grants for OFCY-funded Summer Programs were approved by OFCY's Planning and Oversight Committee and adopted by Oakland City Council in April 2017 for a second year of funding support.

Programs supported through OFCY's Summer Youth Development & Empowerment funding strategy operate from June 1 through August 31 and serve nearly 2,500 Oakland children and youth. OFCY's Planning and Oversight Committee and City Council have approved $1,043,091 in grants to twelve programs in summer 2017 that will serve youth at thirty-five different sites.

Programs operate during the summer months to provide enriching and educational programming when school is out of session. OFCY funding will provide employment opportunities through 12 lead agencies funded to operate 12 summer programs. These agencies are predominately Oakland-based, employ local staff and have a positive economic impact.

See the chart below for the list of 12 agencies and their respective funding allocation.
